Wow it's snowing! When it snows, I like to sit by the fireplace and read my favorite books.

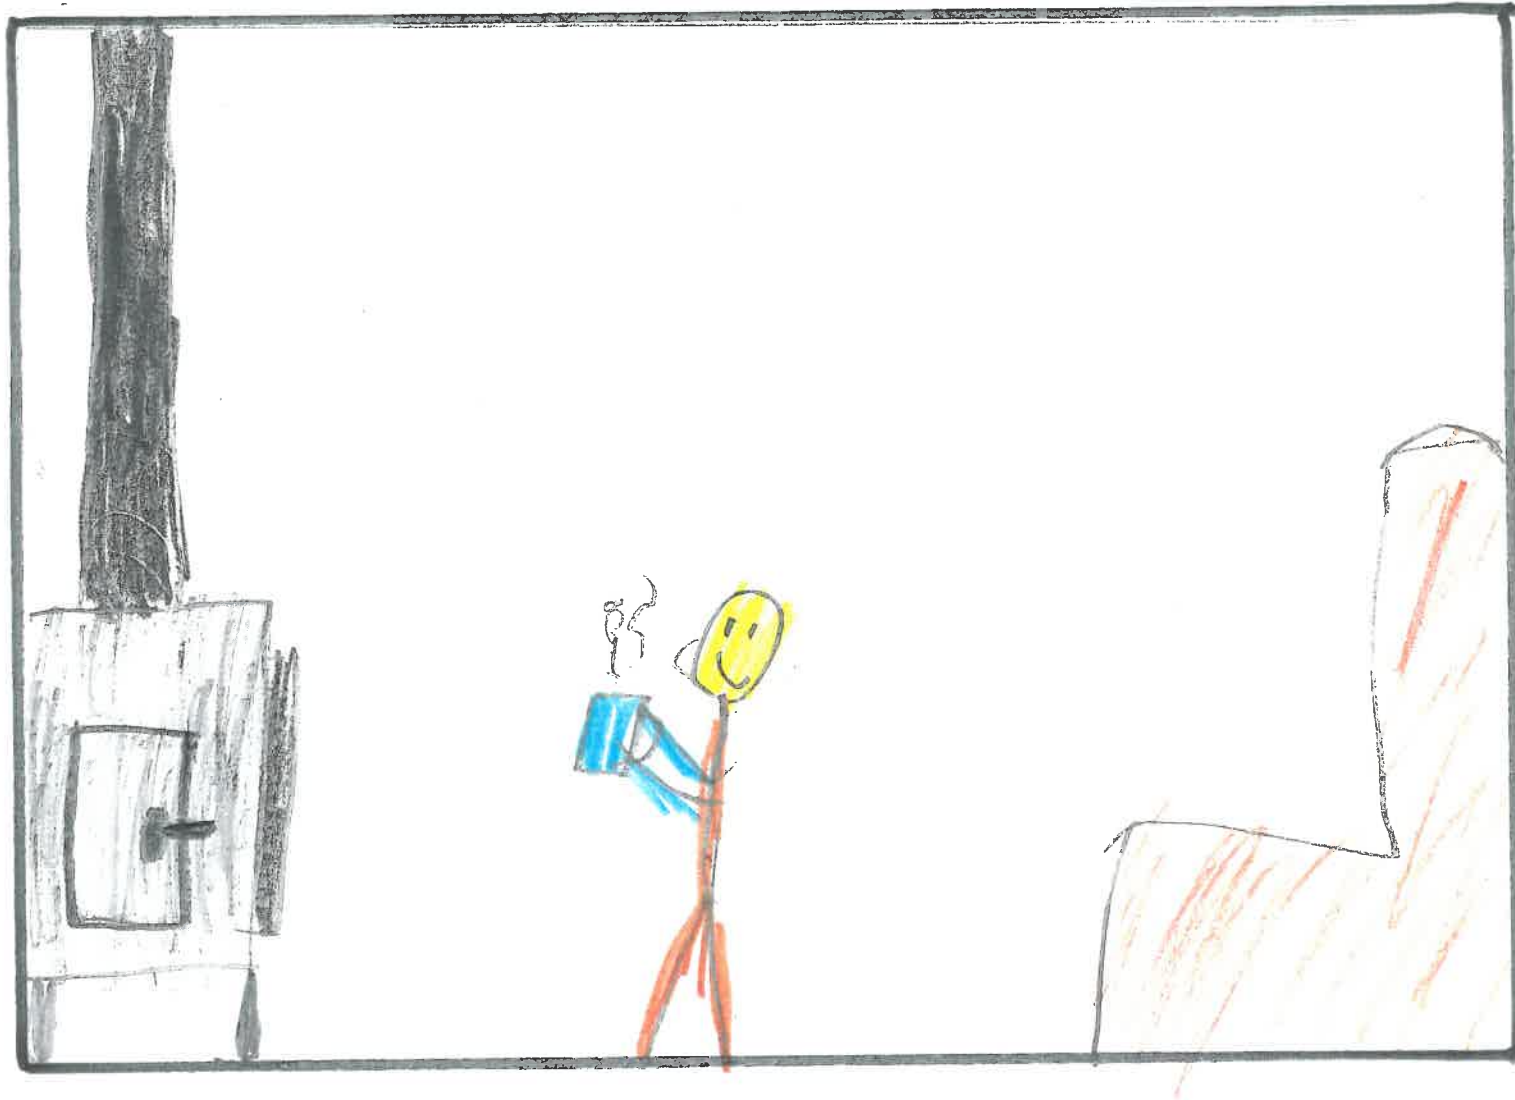

Some of my favorite books are Ranger's Apprentice, Harry Potter, and The Brotherband Chronicles. It's warm and cozy under my blankets by the fireplace. As you can see, I love to sit by the fireplace and read when it snows.

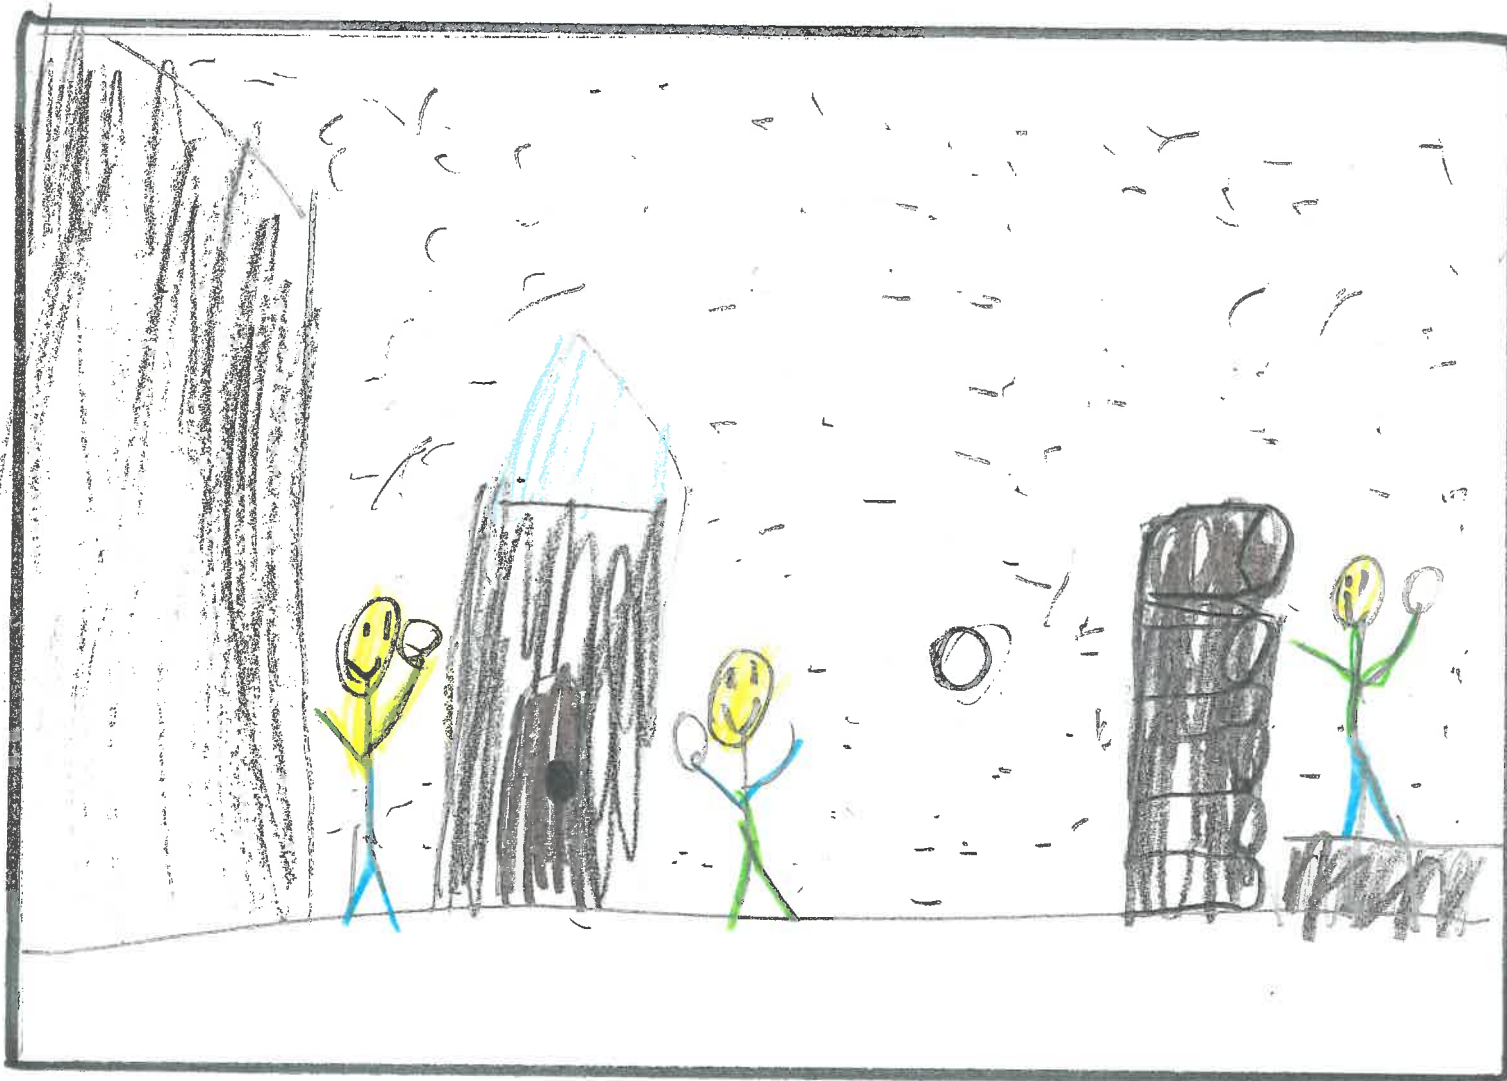

I also like to sled down the hill in my backyard. The hill is about 30 feet long. You feel like you're gliding when you go down the hill! The hill is extra fun because you can go down either side of it. We also have different kinds of sleds. We have sleds with room for three people, two people, and some saucer sleds that I can ride by myself.

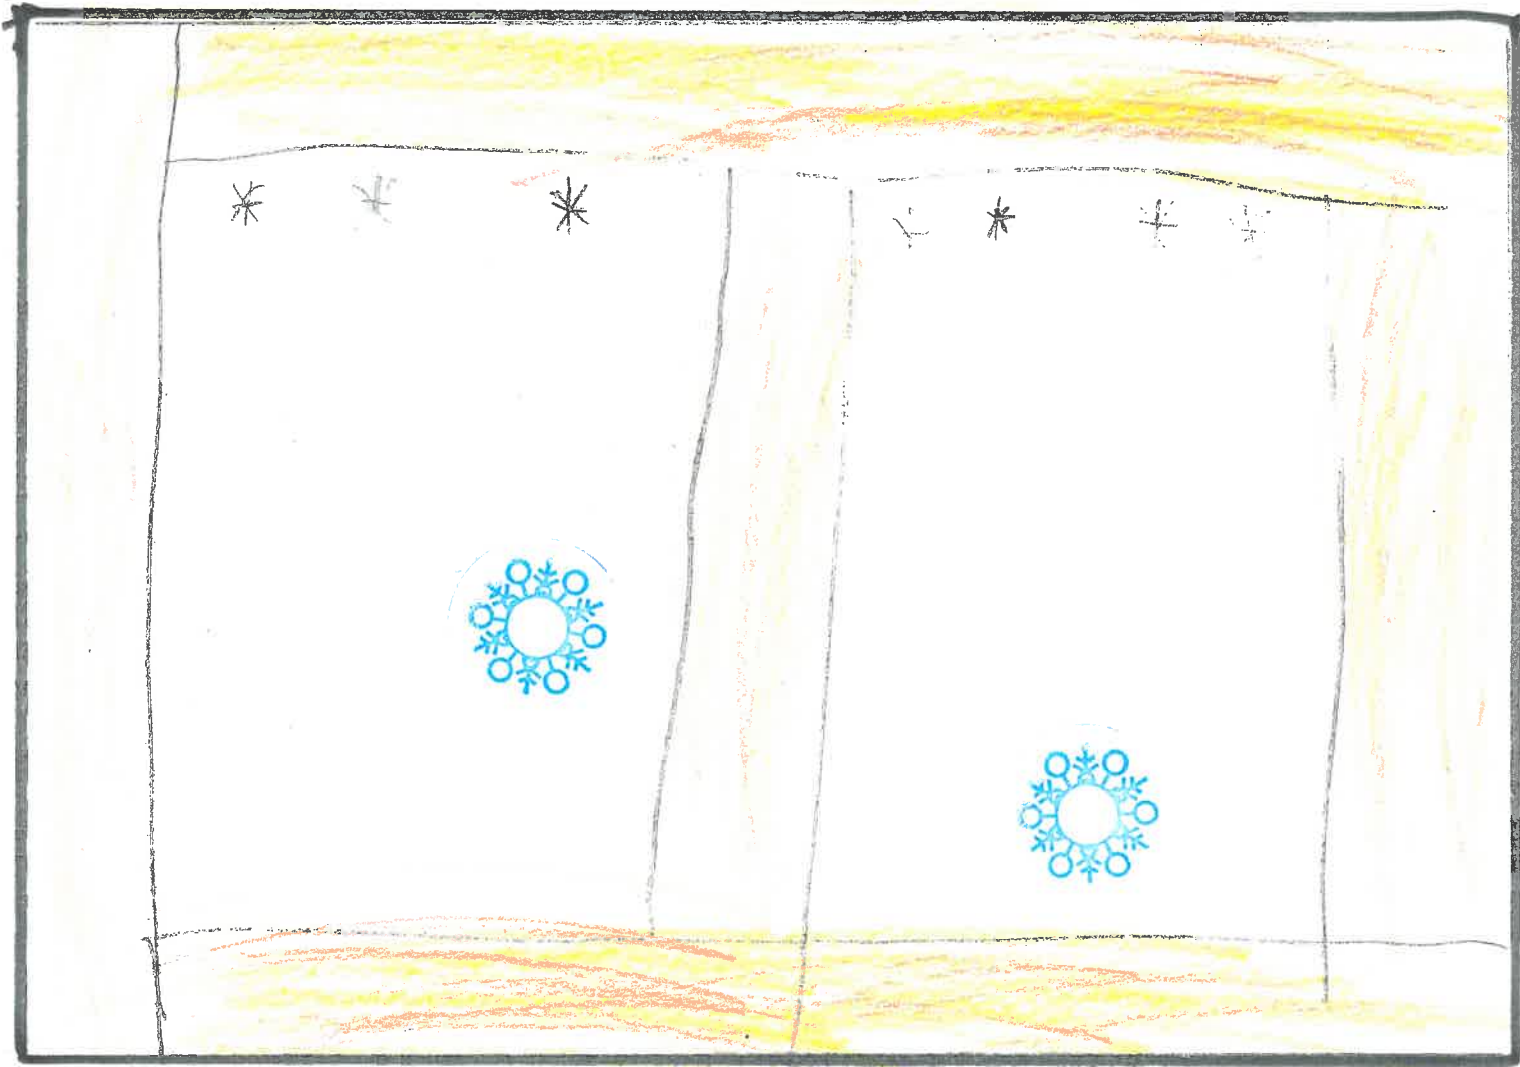

It's nice after sledding because when I get inside, I can have hot cocoa!

Having snowball fights with my friends is something really fun to do in the winter too! At the bottom of the hill or at the top of the hill would be perfect for the snowball fights. At the bottom of the hill there is tall grass to hide in.

I can also build a fort to hide in. The top of the hill has a toy house and piles of wood to make a fort to hide in.

Now you know a few of my favorite things to do when it snows. Oh look, here comes a snowflake now!
