Wheeling University Financial Issue Designation

Effective: July 14, 2025

The Higher Learning Commission (HLC) has assigned a Financial Issue designation to Wheeling University in Wheeling, West Virginia, based on information provided by the institution indicating that the institution's auditors expressed substantial doubt about the institution's ability to continue as a going concern.

A Financial Issue designation is meant to apprise the public that current conditions at an accredited college or university raise potential concerns about its resource base to support its educational programs as required by HLC's Criteria for Accreditation. HLC does not undertake an independent evaluation of the institution in advance of assigning a designation.

While assigned the designation, Wheeling University remains accredited.

What the Financial Issue Designation Means for Students

In most cases, colleges and universities will continue to accept the college's credits for transfer and admission to other higher degree programs and institutions. As all colleges and universities define their own transfer credit and admission policies, students interested in other institutions are advised to seek information on individual transfer and admission policies.

Next Steps

The institution will host an advisory visit no later than December 2025 on various HLC requirements, including Core Component 5.B (resource base). HLC anticipates the designation will remain in place until the advisory visit process concludes. Following action on the advisory visit, HLC will determine whether the designation can be removed or if other action is necessary.

To provide transparency for all stakeholders, HLC publishes a Directory of Institutions on its website. The directory includes information about a college or university's accreditation status, recent activities and upcoming activities.
