

The Girl Who Doesn't Like CHEESE!

by Caelum Groves

This is a story about a girl named Violet. Violet liked to play with her toys, read books, go on walks, and watch birds. But there were things that Violet did not like.

NO!

Violet did not like drums in parades. Scratchy tags in the necks of her clothes. Windy days that would blow air in her face. And most of all... Violet did not like cheese.

Cheese felt slimy.

The smell was icky.

It made Violet feel like she would vomit!

One day Violet went to a family party. There was pizza there, but it all had cheese on it. The party was loud and now all the pizza had cheese. Violet was very upset, so she went outside.

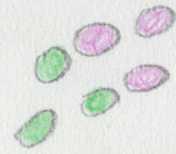

Her mommy sat down beside her and asked, "Is it too loud?" Violet nodded.

Mommy handed Violet a plate of grapes, apple slices, and carrots. Violet was so happy, her mommy knows what she likes to eat! "Thank you, mommy!"

NO

YES

said Violet. "You're welcome, Cutie Pie. You don't have to eat things that make you feel bad," Mommy said. "Your body tells you how it feels, you just have to listen. Violet ate all the food on her plate."

The End