

The Adventure at the Eastern Blue River 2: Expand Your Horizons

By Ryman Dennison

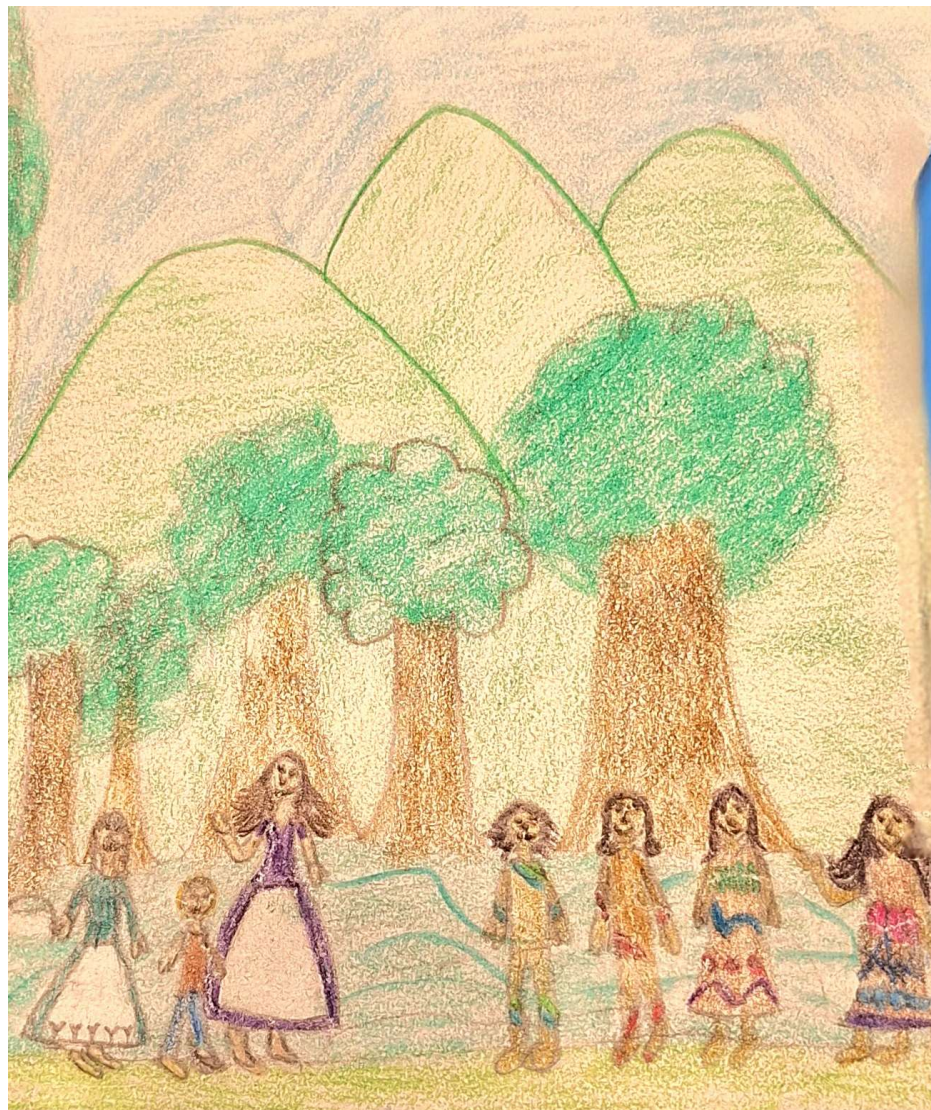

Along the Eastern Blue River Waving Willow and Dancing Daisy are making corn husk dolls. Dancing Daisy says, "I'm so glad we are safe back at home, aren't you?". "Yea, but I want to explore", said Waving Willow. Brave Wolf and Eagle Eye over hear them. "I agree with Waving Willow", says Eagle Eye. "So why don't we explore tomorrow!" Brave Wolf says.

Pretending to hunt, they sneak to the river when Waving Willow suddenly stops them in their tracks. She points to the other side of the river where they see three children playing. Eagle Eye makes a bird noise and gets their attention. "Hello, do we know you?" Brave Wolf decides to speak up and invites the children to make their way across the river.

"Hello, my name is Martha, and this is Laura, and Peter" pointing to the children. Waving Willow responds, "Hello, I am Waving Willow, and this is Eagle Eye, Brave Wolf, and Dancing Daisy. Our village is on this side of the river." "So, what are you doing here?" Martha asked. "We are exploring!" said Brave Wolf. "Hey, we should explore together," said Laura. Peter says, "Can we go meet your people, at your uh..uh village?" "I don't think that is a good idea, but we can play together for a while," said Eagle Eye.

The children spent some time talking about their homes and playing a game called puddle jump. "It's getting late and will be getting dark, we need to get home," said Martha. The children agree to meet at the same spot tomorrow.

“I wonder where they are,” said Brave Wolf. “I don’t know where they are,” says Waving Willow; “but, I think we should keep waiting.” Here comes Martha running across the river.

The children could tell something was wrong. "What's wrong Martha?" said Eagle Eye. "Poor Peter is sick and we don't have medicine for him," says Martha. "Ma thinks that he has scarlet fever". "It's okay Martha, the only thing he needs is the herbs from my mother" says Waving Willow. "We will get it for you!" "Please hurry, he is very sick!" "Wait, how will we get the medicine to you?" Says Brave Wolf. "We will meet here tomorrow at the same time" shouts Martha.

Darkness comes and the village has gone quiet except for Waving Willow who is sneaking in the medicine tent. She finds the scarlet fever herbs and stashes them in her corn husk doll.

Morning comes. The children are at the river. "Hurry!" said Laura. Following Laura they made their way towards Peter! Laura sneaks Waving Willow into the cabin as the other children hide.

Waving Willow explains to Laura's parents who she is and that she has herbs to make Peter well. Desperate, they allow her to help.

The four adventurers get back to their village but don't know what will happen with Peter. All they know is their herbs are powerful. They decide to go back to the river after a few days. Talking among themselves on the way, they still don't know anything about Peter.

From the top of the hill Eagle Eye spots Laura, Martha, and Peter jumping up and down eagerly as they see them coming! The adventures continue. New Friends, new allies, and strong bonds to last a lifetime.
